The image shows a large rectangular frame with a solid black border. Inside this frame, there is a smaller rectangular area defined by a dotted line. This dotted line is positioned approximately 10% from the top and bottom edges and about 10% from the left and right edges of the outer frame. This layout is typical for a trading card template, where the dotted line indicates the area for the card's artwork or text, and the outer solid line indicates the overall size of the card.
